November 13, 2012, 7:38 am -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- The England Rugby squad for the QBE Internationals has been announced. It's a mixture of old and new, with Mako Vunipola and Tom Youngs set to make their debuts alongside veterans including James Haskell.

Head coach Stuart Lancaster said of Vunipola 'it's great to be able to give Mako a chance in the squad... he has come through our age grade sides and made a real impact at Saracens'. Lancaster also said his team 'couldn't wait' to get the oval ball rolling in the competition, which for England begins on November 10 th against Fiji. The full 32-strong squad can be seen at qberugby.com.
