Press Release Summary: House Match LLC, A Pennsylvania Company specializing in foreclosure help and stopping foreclosure launches a website and 24/7 automated information line where home owners can get information about foreclosure options and the Pennsylvania foreclosure process. HouseMatchLLC.com provides free access to information and an online form to allow House Match LLC to provide the homeowner with information on their rights and options in foreclosure or pre-foreclosure situations. They also have short sale specialists and loss mitigation specialists that work with banks to reduce what a homeowner owes. This allows a homeowner to sell their house even if they have little or no equity, or owes more then they can sell the house for. In addition, the company also provides short term loans, and programs on credit repair and how to improve your credit.

Press Release Body: A brand new automated telephone service and website provides free information and services to homeowners across Pennsylvania that allows homeowners to stop foreclosure. The company, House Match LLC provides this service for free and does not collect any money for providing the homeowner with PA foreclosure process information and options to save their house and credit from the PA foreclosure process. House Match LLC is located in Chester County Pennsylvania and has an excellent track record of helping homeowners. The companies website and 24/7 foreclosure information line provide access to information and operators who collect information that allows the company to credit a profile of options available to the home owner. The company has loss mitigation specialists and short sale specialists on staff that work with lenders to reduce what a property owner owes, allowing the property owner to sell the house even if they previously had owed more then the house was worth. This is proving to be a real need with many home owners who bought at the height of the recent Real Estate boom and might be behind on payments for some reason but cannot sell the house for what it is worth either because of the market, or unaffordable repairs. The investment manager of the company says "We are so successful because we do not charge our customers for our services; company gains are dependant on our ability to successfully work with a home owner's lender to reduce what they owe or when they choose other options that require lender negotiations from their profile of options." The company is also creating jobs by employing associates to cover certain areas and go out to the home owner's house to help and work through any paperwork.
