

Nursing fashion changes the way we feed our babies

Released on: November 25, 2007, 8:43 pm

Press Release Author: Fertile Mind Pty Ltd

Industry: Apparel & Fashion

Henley Breastfeeding Top

Press Release Summary: Nursing women used to have to lift up their tops to feed their baby – announcing to all around them they were nursing a child.

Obi Breastfeeding Top

Press Release Body: Many women find this embarrassing and some onlookers are offended. However, nursing fashion has moved on and is now more mainstream and discreet than ever. The latest range from Fertile Mind is now available to the US. They look like regular clothing, but hidden openings mean a mother can feed her baby without anyone noticing.

Corporate Wrap Breastfeeding Top

The Fertile Mind Henley Nursing Top is ideal for cool weather, with three quarter sleeves. Nursing women can unbutton the front for access. Fertile Mind's Corporate Wrap Nursing Top will appeal to women returning to work as it is more modest than many tops. The Fertile Mind Obi Nursing Top has print detail at the waist. Again, openings are completely hidden in the design of the top. Details about the nursing tops are available at www.fertilemind.com.

Web Site: <http://www.fertilemind.com/maternity-wear>

Contact Details: Fertile Mind
6893 Sullivan Road
Grawn MI 49637
Fertilemind@netordering.com
(562) 508 4271