Press Release Body: CPA Lacasse Global Research has announced the launch of sophisticated gene and protein sequence analysis capabilities to its industry leading pharmaceutical and biotech clients. CPA Lacasse is a premier provider of global patent services offering a comprehensive suite of research products for life sciences clients both large and small.

Biological
therapeutics and
diagnostic tools
form the basis of
many cutting edge medical treatments today and are quickly becoming one of the most prolific areas for patent filing. It is critical for life sciences companies to have a complete understanding of their freedom to operate in this highly complex and litigious space. Using best in class tools, CPA Lacasse searches nucleic acid and polypeptide sequences to capture relevant patents and scholarly journal articles typically not identified by standard keyword and classification search methods.
