Press Release Summary: Joppa, MD August 11, 2008—Check Gallery continues to expand in different directions with the release of its new product suite, "African Elements." As part of the new design, Check Gallery is offering personal checks, address labels, personal contact cards, and a checkbook cover.

Press Release Body: Operating as an environmentally friendly company for more than fifteen years, Check Gallery is known for its wide assortment of check designs that appeal to nature lovers and environmentally conscious consumers. The "African Elements" pattern is new, unique, and sure to draw the attention of everyone that views it as part of Check Gallery's assortment.

On August 11, 2008, Check Gallery released the new "African Elements" product suite via its website, www.checkgallery.com. The personal checks are mostly green with jungle-like vegetation in the background. On the left side of each check are four rotating pictures of traditional African tribal symbols and tools that include: hand drums, masks, water jugs, and a shield with spears, all of which are brightly colored and lifelike. The address labels offered with this design feature the same images as the checks, while the contact cards offer the plant life as a background for each individual's personal information. The matching checkbook portrays the shield and spears in vivid color on its front.

Check Gallery's check designs have always been creative and individualistic so as to appeal to all customers. The addition of the new "African Elements" check design lends a cultural aspect to Check Gallery and provides one more way to satisfy the tastes of many consumers.
