Press Release Summary: Harry Balls, Publisher of HarryBalls.com announces his United States Presidential Endorsement.

Press Release Body: San Francisco, CA 10-22-08 - Harry Balls, owner and founder of Harry Balls Media publishers of HarryBalls.com and other web sites announced his long awaited United States Presidential endorsement today.

While both men has run interesting campaigns and served their county admirably as United States Senators, Mr Balls believes Senator Obama offers the best chance for America to recover our place of leadership in the world.

“Senator Obama offers hope, leadership, energy and the integrity required to address the global problems pressing the United States today.

Our nation’s reputation has suffered at the hands of a dysfunctional son trying to prove himself better than his father. A son who warned us that if we didn’t settle the 2000 election we would slip into a recession. A son who used the fear of a mid east despot’s alleged possession of weapon's of mass destruction to pull us into a world changing budget draining life losing conflict.

Senator McCain continues this path of fear. Fear that his opponent has too little experience, fear that his opponent's policies are socialist, fear that his opponent befriended a terrorist from the sixties. Fear of hope. Weak leaders use fear. They themselves must be feared and stopped."

Because of these reasons Mr. Balls enthusiastically encourages American voters and visitors to his downloadable game site called <http://www.HarryBalls.com> to vote for Barack Obama for President.
