Press Release Summary: Keith Kearney explores the facets of pursuing a legitimate home based opportunity through his MIT Mentor Program. He was eager to share information about the new release of this program which is distinct in the network marketing industry for its unique approach to the success its enrollees can attain. The MIT Program was designed to help adjust the influx of people on the internet interested in legitimate home based business opportunity.

Press Release Body: Hudson Valley NY- Nov. 5 2008 One day after voters announced they were ready for a change, Keith Kearney announced a change of his own for everyone pursuing a legitimate home based business opportunity. Reflecting a massive lack of confidence in the financial and corporate sectors, thousands flock to the internet daily in search of a legitimate home based business opportunity that can provide security for their future. This recent influx over the last 6 months, Kearney says, jump started the concept behind his MIT Mentor Program.

While many people look to find a legitimate home based business opportunity on the Web, Kearney believes their motivations get beat up by the unfamiliar terrain and unethical practices the internet can possess. So the MIT Program he designed serves the dual fold purpose of not only presenting a home based business opportunity with a recognized, respected company but a mentoring program to insulate against frustration and failure. Kearney says by fusing proven marketing techniques with a stabilized support system his program provides the ability to generate steady streams of incomes for its all levels of enrollees.

Years of experience in the network marketing industry have allowed Kearney unique chances to study the techniques of self made millionaires and entrepreneurs, and he chose this time to make that information to the public at large because of the economic struggles many people are facing. "Successful people recognize and assess educated risk," Kearney states "My goal through The MIT Program is giving people the resources necessary to make that risk work for them". He hopes his decision will not only lead to the further expansion of the MIT Program, but will encourage more people to grab hold of their financial futures and make the best of them.
