Press Release Summary: The lowdown on scratch cards –All you want to know about how they started, how they work and TreasureOnNet's exciting online scratch cards and fabulous easy win prizes.

Press Release Body: Nicosia, Cyprus January 1, 2008 – Scratch cards, which are also known as scratch offs or scratch tickets, are small tokens or cards, usually made of cardboard with one or more areas containing hidden information concealed by a substance which cannot be seen through but is only revealed by being scratched off. Scratch cards are mainly used to conceal prizes in instant win games but can also be used to conceal Personal Identification Numbers for telephone calling cards and other prepaid services. Simple scratch cards require players to match a number, often three, of the same prize amounts and if they accomplish this, they win prizes while more sophisticated scratch cards have several different ways of winning on one card.

The first scratch card game tickets were created using manual randomization techniques and in 1974, an American company produced the first computer generated instant win lottery game. Three years later, in 1987, a Rhode Island company received a U.S. patent for an instant scratch-off lottery ticket. Due to their low cost and opportunities for an instant win as opposed to having to wait for a lottery draw, scratch cards are an immensely popular form of games of chance. Scratch cards actually offer much better odds of winning easy money than the regular lottery and although the sums may be smaller than lottery prizes, any sum of easy money won while playing scratch cards is guaranteed whereas with lottery prizes, the sum normally depends on the total number of winners and the size of the jackpot fund.

Online scratch cards are the Internet version of the lottery scratch cards bought in shops and are played by clicking on a designated area to reveal information that is then used to determine the prize value of the scratch card. Online scratch cards tend to offer better odds for winning easy money than their shop-based counterparts. Online scratch cards can be played from the comfort of the player's own home, at any time day or night and the player knows immediately whether they have won instant cash without having to wait for a weekly draw.

TreasureOnNet offers seven online scratch card games and games of chances which don't require any software to be downloaded and therefore can be played as soon as the player registers. TreasureOnNet games are very easy to play and offer the player great odds of winning an instant win prize in every game.
