Leading online jeweler welcomes Benchmark to its distinguished roster of designers

(Modesto, Calif.) February 18, 2009 -- Titanium-Jewelry.com, a leading online retailer of mens wedding bands, tungsten rings, titanium rings and unique contemporary jewelry designs for men and women, announced today the addition of Benchmark Tungsten wedding bands to its existing collection of the world's finest titanium and tungsten rings and wedding bands.

"Like their namesake, Benchmark is known for specializing in exquisitely designed and crafted tungsten wedding bands, and it is an honor for us to make their designs available to our customers," said Ron Yates, founder, Titanium-Jewelry.com. "Having the distinction of being Benchmark's premier online distributor, Titanium-Jewelry.com reinforces its position as a leader in alternative wedding bands and jewelry made from state-of-the-art metals such as titanium and tungsten."

With 40 years behind the name, Benchmark is engineered for comfort. As the first to introduce the "Comfort Fit" design to the United States, Benchmark's designs create a better fit with curved inner design that doesn't cut into the wearer's finger. Benchmark uses the patented TC850 tungsten carbide, which is a hallmark of the only three licensed suppliers in the world authorized to sell and distribute the highest caliber tungsten carbide rings. As a member of this elite group, Benchmark has mastered precision-setting technologies, allowing a ring to showcase most of a gem's surface while the secure setting protects the precious stones they support. Hand-set diamonds are often lost due to inconsistently secured settings with an uneven surface. Benchmark bands are engineered for both comfort and security.
