Industry: Software

Lynx Systems Inc. introduces two new services for users of Intuit MRI, Yardi Systems and other property management software. The Four Day System Assessment gets the most from your property management software and the Ten Day Process Review ensures management has access to strategic information.

Four Day System Assessment: The Best From Your Software

This assessment focuses on your current asset and property management systems: the major transactional processes that the company relies upon every day. Our senior consultants perform an in-depth evaluation on how effectively your company and staff are using the existing accounting system. Our findings will provide you with various alternatives for improvement, including incremental and cost effective steps towards your optimal solution.

Ten Day Process Review: The Right Information, The Right Decisions

This review is a detailed analysis of your organization's major business processes and operations outside of the "core" accounting systems.

Typically, hundreds of processes within a real estate development company are not supported by the standard accounting systems and not easily accessible to senior management. A true Knowledge Management System, accessing the information from all of these processes, is key to making the right decisions to achieve your strategic goals, especially in these difficult times.

Lynx Systems in 2009

As we move into 2009, we look back with appreciation for the support of our many loyal clients and the opportunities that are being presented to us. Last year was a time of change and development for Lynx and we are excited and proud of our renewed focus on service and expansion of offerings.

Since 1997, Lynx Systems has been providing a full range of support services to the real estate industry including hotline support, customization, report development, technical support, training, data conversion, and implementation support. Our professionals are familiar with all major financial accounting systems including Intuit MRI, Yardi, J.D. Edwards, Newstar, Spectra and CTI Systems.

We are particularly proud of our new service offerings, described above, designed to help clients to improve efficiencies, and make the most cost-effective decisions in these difficult economic times. For more information visit www.lynxsystemsinc.com
