These days, the opportunity to make your career dreams come true has never been better. The fact that we are experiencing some of the worst economic times in history gives us all the more reason to explore new opportunities and look for creative ways to make our living.

So what's stopping you? Lack of money? Lack of training? Lack of time?

As of 2007 online travel sales accounted for over 50% of all travel purchases in the U.S. The days of physically going to a travel agency to make your travel arrangements are all but disappearing into the horizon. This doesn't mean that people don't want help booking their trips, it simply means they are looking for easier and more convenient ways to do it.

Of the thousands of home business opportunities, stay at home travel consultants enjoy several exclusive benefits:

You have no inventory to stock or keep track of – which can be expensive and time consuming.

You earn travel points and are automatically entitled to special discounted trips – saving you money on personal travel for you and your family.

You earn commissions on qualified travel that is booked through your personal travel consultant web site.

You can work at your own pace, depending on whether you want to work part-time or replace your current full-time job.

You can invest no professional training, or you can advance to higher levels of travel agent status via training programs available through various resources. The more training you have, the more opportunity you will have to book travel for other individuals maximizing your commissions earnings.

There are many options when it comes to choosing a travel company to become affiliated with. There are even travel companies operating as a network marketing business. This not only gives you the opportunity to earn money online through travel sales, but you can also get compensated for recruiting additional travel consultants and subsequently receive a share of commission on travel that they book as well.

You may think this all sounds fine and good, but you have no idea how to get started.
