Miami, FL, June 18, 2009—Luxury seems to be a dirty word this year, with the economy tanking and everyone embarrassed to be seen spending frivolously. But you can sneak away to the Caribbean and stay in a luxurious four-bedroom villa for as little as $215 a night—and friends will never know how much you spent unless you tell them. What's more, with four bedrooms you can treat several generations of family members or share (and split the price) with three other couples. How to find the luxury getaway in the Caribbean? Go to <http://rentalo.com>, click on "Caribbean" and take your pick. Rentalo.com, the leading online vacation rentals, hotels and bed and breakfasts directory, has a range of villas on all the popular islands. Some of the possibilities include:
