The doors to new students are about to open at Honey's Dance Academy, the UK's top Bollywood Dance School. But before they do, you'll be put through your paces in an X-Factor type audition process, dubbed the Bollywood Factor. Students who qualify will be trained by Bollywood's leading Choreographers to take part in major Film, TV and Stage shows, with a special focus this year to compete in the UK Bollywood Dance Championships 2010!

The famed Academy since its inception in 1999 has grown to over 13 London Studios and has casted its dancing students in Film, TV and Stage performances such as the BBC Proms, Blue Peter, Jamie Olivers's Oliver Twist, even Harry Potter, Bombay Dreams and blockbuster Bollywood movie Khabhi Khushi Khabhi Gham!

The demand from students aged 4 years old to 18+ wanting to join Honey's Dance Academy is hotting up, but with limited spaces the queues have been building – so what better way to spot raw talent but to audition!

On Saturday 9th January 2010 at the St. Giles Hotel (Tottenham Court Road) the keen eye of Honey Kalaria, the Academy's founder and a panel of Bollywood's top choreographers will be hunting out new dance talent who have the passion, drive and determination to make it as a Bollywood Star!

"You don't have to be dance professional to audition, we're looking for students with passion, creativity and stage presence who we can train in different styles of Bollywood and Bhangra dance" Honey Kalaria, founder H.D.A

Open to all skill levels the Academy has taken novice dancers and trained them to perform on the most glamorous of stage and film sets. With Bollywood ever growing in popularity and now reaching global audiences the appeal to learn and perform in the Bollywood arts has attracted students from all cultural backgrounds – something H.D.A encourages.

Honey Kalaria, the founder of H.D.A has led a glittering entertainment career as a Choreographer, Bollywood Actress and Singer. Her passion for dance and the arts saw her establish Honey's Dance Academy and build it to teach, manage and promote young talent globally!

"We're all very proud of our student's on-going success, seeing them on stage and on the big screen is fantastic! This year we can't wait to find more students who have a passion for dance and want to develop further with us!" Honey Kalaria, founder H.D.A

The Academy has always attracted a high number of applicants and with this year's Bollywood Factor and forthcoming UK Bollywood Dance Championships the organisers are expecting to be inundated.
