Los Angeles, CA-The Siren Assassins made their mark in Hollywood on March 10th, with a flood of anticipating fans, industry heads, prominent dancers, choreographers and quiet celebrities who all came out to support the show.

As Christina Aguilera watched and rocked from balcony view, Pink digested the performance front and center stage, while others like Laurie Ann Gibson, Beach Girl5 and Lil Mama also enjoyed at close view, noting the production was "smooth and exciting". Pink tweeted " Wen2 see Siren Assassins 2nite. Big dance extravaganza.Those girls+boys MURDERED it. The whole dam thing. Made me wanna take my clothes off n dance."

Director and choreographer, Rhapsody James, took the multimedia dance show to another level, implanting forms of martial arts, acts of woman power and fierceness that induced constant cheering across the building throughout the entire show.

There was no flaw in performance as every scene and dance move was intricately delivered. As a definite crowd pleaser, many hope for the show's return in Los Angeles.
