Cisco Systems has announced the launch of a new series of three videos which, against the backdrop of the closure of much of the European airspace, are designed to help get Cisco Systems seen as the single source for real-world answers to today's business challenges.

The increased global business challenges which have been experienced over the last few days, as a result of the recent volcanic eruptions in Iceland, have highlighted the need for constant accessibility to practical answers, expert advice, and proven solutions which are available 24-7 and without an over reliance on planes, trains and automobiles.

Cisco as the worldwide leader in networking aims to transform how people connect, communicate and collaborate and open up possibilities around the world for companies in a format that is convenient for users. The disruption caused by the grounding of flights across the UK, Ireland, Norway, northern France, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, the Netherlands and Belgium, demonstrates the need for increased borderless networking and improved online solutions.

The new TechWise TV videos have been released as part of Cisco's latest marketing push and cover the important and highly pertinent subjects of Data Centers, Collaboration and Borderless Networks for businesses.

The video entitled 'Journey to Unified Computing' covers how to simplify a data center and discovering the benefits of this new architectural approach and the unified Cisco Interactive Network. This broadcast illustrates the benefits of unified computing in a data center how to reduce costs and improve ROI while migrating incrementally to protect existing investments.

'Your Network Has the Power' is a 60-minute episode of TechWiseTV provides help with how to aggregate and share power supplies for greater efficiency and resilience and transform and optimize a network into a strategic energy management tool across an entire organization.

The 'IP Telephony Without the Migration Migraines' TechWise broadcast covers IP telephony migration with a complete roadmap developed through dozens of customer implementations to help make a smooth transition, including planning, technical nuts and bolts, carrier considerations, signaling and protocol options, training, security, and more.

Viewers will also receive an invite to a live technical workshop where they will be able to talk to Cisco experts about their chosen topic.
