Holiday planning can be a chore. Researching hotels, finding flights, comparing prices... The seemingly limitless options these days can overwhelm even the most experienced of travelers. Expedia makes holiday planning easy again with comprehensive hotel listings and a robust, easy-to-use search. For example, search for Melbourne hotels by travel dates, then sort by recommended hotels, name, city and ratings. Travelers who want to stay in a specific neighborhood, or near a particular attraction, can add those search options then view results on a map. Expedia also allows travelers to search by theme. Need to find pet-friendly hotels in New York city or spa hotels in Hong Kong? Expedia can help. Go to expedia.co.in today to plan and book your next holiday with ease.

April 2010 – Expedia takes the hassle out of planning and booking a holiday. Whether travelers are looking for Melbourne hotels, hotels in New York City, Hong Kong or anywhere else in the world, Expedia has them covered with comprehensive hotel listings – more than 75,000 – and an easy-to-use search that allows them to narrow results to fit their specific holiday plans. Travelers also can look at Expedia's recommended hotels, plus read guest reviews written by fellow travelers from around the world.

For example, if a traveler wants to holiday in Melbourne this summer, he would simply go to expedia.co.in and visit the website's Melbourne hotels guide. From there, he can enter check-in and check-out dates and begin his search. After Expedia quickly delivers the search results, he can sort by Expedia-recommended hotels, hotel name, city, Expedia star ratings and guest star ratings. He also can add required amenities to the search to further narrow results. Those who want to stay in a specific neighborhood can choose to view only Melbourne hotels in that area. Search results can be displayed in grid form or on a map, whichever the traveler prefers.

The listings for Melbourne Hotels themselves are as robust as the search. Each listing comes with detailed information, including a description of the hotel and its rooms, a list of hotel and room amenities, onsite dining options, hotel policies, and, of course, nightly rates and any additional fees. Travelers can look at photos of the hotel and its rooms, and in many cases, take a virtual tour. There are also Insider's Tips, such as this one for Melbourne hotels, specifically the Park Hyatt Melbourne:

"History buffs and the young (or young at heart) shouldn't miss a stroll through neighboring Fitzroy Gardens. Nestled amid its winding pathways and flowering shrubs is not only Cook's Cottage, which was originally built in 1755 by the parents of famous English navigator Captain James Cook, but also the Fairies Tree, a carved tree trunk meant to be a sanctuary for fairies and those who believe in them."

Booking rooms at Melbourne hotels – or hotels in New York, hotels in Hong Kong, or anywhere else in the world – proves just as easy on Expedia. Travelers can book online or call 1-800-419-1919 from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. (IST) daily.

The portal for the Indian traveler, from the world's leading online travel company, features more than 75,000 hotels – from hotels in Melbourne to Hotels in New York – and more than 3,000 holiday packages. Travelers can find and book hotels with Expedia's robust, easy-to-use search, then contribute to the website's growing collection of independent guest reviews after they get home. Go to expedia.co.in today to find and Hotels in Hong Kong, New York City, Melbourne, or anywhere else in the world.
