Drivers renting vehicles when on their vacations can enjoy higher peace of mind thanks to year old website

08 April 2010 – Anyone heading away on holiday and renting a car can now enjoy enhanced peace of mind thanks to policies offered by car hire insurance website Car-hire-insurance.co.uk. The site has just completed its first year of trading and has enjoyed spectacular success in helping people avoid expensive excess insurance charges while on holiday.

Some people find themselves intimidated when booking a car on holiday, mainly because they don't speak the native language and this can mean that they don't always spot the hidden hire car insurance charges buried deep in the contract. This means that they can end up paying through the nose for excess charges after an accident. Buying a policy from Car-hire-insurance.co.uk ensures that they have Collision Damage Waiver (CDW) which covers them against these expensive charges.

Car-hire-insurance.co.uk is able to help motorists overseas thanks to its cheap excess charge insurance policies which are priced from as little as £4.50 per day. The company's policies cover drivers for periods starting at just 1 day and extend up to in-depth 1 year policies.

Gareth Robinson, spokesman for Car-hire-insurance.co.uk, said, "We've have had a great first year of trading in helping people to avoid costly excess insurance charges when on holiday. Our car hire excess insurance policies include CDW which means that drivers renting on holiday can relax knowing that they're covered in the event of any accident."
