Malaga will be hoping to forget about the last game when Barcelona ran out convincing winners with a display that saw them net four goals to Malaga's one. Over the 90 minutes Malaga had difficulty controlling David Villa's speed and accuracy in front of goal as the striker hit two goals. Iniesta also scored the opener in just seven minutes and a third first half goal came from Pedro to pretty much seal the victory.

To their credit Malaga did manage to score a beautiful goal through Duda from a free kick and there'll be looking to him again to put them on the score sheet. Other key players that must be in top form will be the likes of Julio Baptista, Rondon and Sebastian Fernandez Miglierina who will need to find their scoring boots if the home side are to win in the next outing.

Malaga's manager Manuel Pellegrini will also need to come up with a solid defensive strategy if his side are going to control Lionel Messi's trickery as well as stopping Villa adding to his impressive tally of goals this season.

Travelling Barcelona fans should book a hotel Malaga Airport for 22nd May 2011 and head to the Estadio La Rosaleda for a 15:00 kick off.

Lek Boonlert, marketing head at DirectRooms.com commented: "Malaga will see a build up of fans for the game and hotels will struggle to cope with the demand. People should therefore look to book their accommodation without delay."
