Bishop will now play two dates at London's O2 Arena and LondonTown.com has the low down on where to stay

October 16, 2012, 1:23 pm -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Due to overwhelming demand, comedian John Bishop has added another London date to his nationwide tour this autumn. Bishop will now play two dates at the O2 Arena on 24 and 25 October.

The Liverpoolian comedian stormed to success with his previous sell-out stand-up tour performing for more than 400,000 fans and producing the fastest selling stand-up comedy DVD of all time. He has switched from the stage to television with ease, taking on roles in E4's Skins and Sky One's A League of Their Own; he's even had his own programme on BBC One: John Bishop's Britain. Critics and crowds adore him in equal measure and he always leaves a crowd wanting more, despite painful side-splitting stitches and fits of laughter.

LondonTown.com, the number one internet site for London, advises Bishop fans to grab tickets early while they're still available. It also suggests booking an overnight stay in a nearby London hotel.

LondonTown.com has reduced rates on hotels in London this year making prices far more accessible. Examples of this include the 88% reduction at the Radisson Blu Edwardian New Providence Wharf and 77% off at the Holiday Inn Express London Greenwich. Both hotels are within walking distance of the O2 Arena.

The Radisson Edwardian New Providence Wharf is a four-star property with a modern design and accompanying contemporary features.

Rates at this waterside property are now available from just £62 per room, per night. Aside from a stunning location boasting impressive London views, this stylish hotel also has a spa and swimming pool to make stays extra special.

The Holiday Inn Express London Gatwick is a family-friendly three-star property that lives up to all the standards people now expect of Holiday Inn properties. Room rates now start at just £57 per night.
