December 10, 2012, 11:40 am -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Laundry 365 has just launched its new website showcasing the latest line in commercial laundry machines. The company offers its customers a "One stop shop", which covers everything from impartial advice on what the right equipment is for the job in hand, through to arranging financing, and providing a total service care support package.

Indeed when it comes to providing ongoing support for your commercial laundry equipment then Laundry 365 offer one of the best support packages in the business, and they carry one of the most extensive ranges of spares in the UK. They back this up by offering a 365 day a year, 24 hour a day call out service, meaning that should the worst happen and your machine breakdown they can get things up and running as fast as possible. The good news is that they will provide this service to you even if they have not sold you the equipment.

You can find details of their industry leading care package on the new website, and they recommend that you talk to them before you make the final decision as to who to use for your servicing and breakdown support. It is worthwhile talking to them as in commercial laundry terms time is money, as every hour your commercial washing machine or tumble drier is out of service is money not being earned.

However, a great many companies also chose to purchase their laundry equipment from them as they offer a wide range of equipment that covers all of your commercial laundry equipment needs including washing machines, hydro extractors, tumble driers, ironers, and finishing equipment, basically everything you would need to purchase to set up and run a new commercial laundry. All of which you can find extremely comprehensive details on, including full machine specifications, on their new website, which is all laid out in an easy to follow format with details on key items such as power usage clearly displayed.

On their new website you can also find details of the company's new product ranges that include commercial drying cabinets, vacuum packaging, and warewashers.

Laundry 365's new website also highlights the companies green credentials and the fact that in an industry that is not always one of the greenest, due to the amount of water and detergents used by necessity, there are in actual fact a lot of "Green" equipment solutions available to you. As an example the company is able to offer you class leading gas powered dryers that for a 30lb model operate using 20,000BTU's less than their nearest rival – A massive saving on your annual gas bill, and thus more money added to your bottom line, as well as being much kinder to the planet. Their high speed washing machines also use up to 70% less water than their rivals.

You will also find details on their new website of how they follow this green philosophy in their own day to day business, sourcing machines from as close to home as possible to avoid unnecessary road journeys, and ensuring that they recycle as much as possible themselves.

All in all the company now offers a class leading range of commercial laundry equipment and a World class after care service, and it is well worth viewing their new easy to navigate website to check out their comprehensive products and services.
