LONDON, January 24, 2013, 4:58 am -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Glamorous in home or at venue hair and beauty treatments from Return to Glory allow brides to take the stress out of looking their best.

As the January boom in wedding bookings takes effect, brides to be throughout the UK are planning their very special big day. One of the most important factors for the bride is getting their wedding hair and makeup right, and feeling like a calm princess throughout the event. That's why more London brides than ever are choosing Return to Glory, to help them look and feel their best.

Over 350 Weddings Last Year

Renowned as one of the fastest growing mobile massage and beauty providers in the capital, Return to Glory have a specialist team of trained wedding hair and beauty specialists. But there is much more to their service than hairspray and lipstick. They know that when a woman feels great, she looks it too; and they endeavour to take the stress out of perfecting every woman's individual look.

Removing the Stress

With Return to Glory wedding hair and makeup services in London, the bride to be can approach her event with confidence. Our luxurious bridal services are designed to take many of the stresses and strains out of the engagement.

The bride will enjoy a wedding trial, which can last all day, during which an expert makeup artist will explore different styles and find the perfect look for every face. Customers will notice the difference that an experience magazine makeup artist can make, with a range of extra special finishing touches, including individual lashes, hidden liner and a light, invisible, flawless finish. By the time the big day arrives, each bride will have their own hair and makeup arrangement tailored to their features, and ready to be applied with a minimum of fuss.

Since wellbeing is so important to the bride's finished look, Return to Glory also offer relaxing and rejuvenating beauty and massage treatments in the weeks leading up to the event. They have known their beautiful vouchers to be put on the wedding list! Why? This period can be extremely stressful to the lady at the centre of the whole affair, but a massage or spa treatment can be a real boost. Calming, and therapeutic, these sessions can help the bride, or groom, to enjoy the run-in, almost as much as they enjoy the wedding day.

Confident Dancer?

Surprising, another of the very popular services offered through Return to Glory are in home Dance Lessons. Couples enjoy first dance lessons in the comfort of their own home, to gain even greater peace of mind, knowing everything will run smoothly at the reception. Men especially find the lessons in their home far less intimidating.

Return to Glory wedding hair and makeup is available across North London, North West, East London, South London and West London. In some circumstances, the company have also travelled across South East England, the rest of the UK and have travelled to France, Italy and Spain upon request.

Pay a visit to the Return to Glory website today and find out more about all of the wedding hair and makeup London services available. They offer a simple, transparent pricing structure with no hidden charges, but customers should act now because appointments won't be available forever.
