Discounted London hotels announced by LondonTown.com to coincide with arena tour

March 25, 2013, 2:28 pm -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Fresh from the success of their first chart-topping album in the UK, Biffy Clyro have announced that they will be performing at London's O2 Arena on Wednesday 3 April 2013. A selection of London hotels have announced specially reduced rates for Biffy fans to coincide with the Scottish rockers' gig in the capital.

After the huge success of their fifth studio album, Only Revolutions , the band will return to London next month as part of their biggest arena tour to date. Biffy are out on the road to promote their latest album, Opposites, which became their first UK chart-topper last month.

Hailing from Kilmarnock, Biffy Clyro have scaled the indie ranks to go on to phenomenal mainstream success. Headlining festivals, and picking up a Mercury Prize nomination for their platinum-selling Only Revolutions LP, they've carved out a reputation as one of the country's hottest live acts, being named Best Live Band at both the Q and NME Awards in 2011.

To coincide with the band's O2 date, LondonTown.com have teamed up with a selection of London hotels to offer gig-goers specially reduced rates. Just 11 minutes from the O2, the Ibis London Docklands is offering a 74% discount to travellers booking via LondonTown.com, with double rooms available from £54.

Also just a stone's throw from the O2, the strikingly modern Ibis London Excel with its views over the Royal Victoria Dock has double rooms available from just £69 – a reduction of 64% on the standard room rate.
