The Site That Brings Unmanned Aircraft System Professionals To UAS Hiring Companies

April 25, 2013, 3:39 pm -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Today internet users around the world are using thousands of job search websites to apply for jobs. Although, users are hassled by thousands of sites to create profiles, post resumes, enter personal information, remember yet another password and be daunted with spam mail on a daily or weekly basis. Job seekers find themselves 2 hours into the job search and they haven't even read the first opportunity. That all stops today!

UAV Jobs Report is bringing Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS) professionals to meet relevant opportunities at leading companies, and ask nothing in return from the user. They do not even want your email address. Users love the easy function of the site. Job Opportunities are listed in three categories - Pilot, Technician and New with each listing directly linking to the hiring company's web site. Then the user can choose to only share their sensitive information with that company's site. The site www.uavjobsreport.com also insures users they are delivering relevant and legitimate career opportunities by screening each posting.

When asked what the site is trying to accomplish, 13 year UAS industry veteran and site creator answers, "We simply want to pass along career opportunities to the men and women whom are well trained to perform the job. We aren't looking to career coach you, but only inform you. I want users to feel a sense of freedom on the site - freedom that is from pop ups, career advice columns, feeds, spam mail and keeping up with another profile." He continues to encourage the public to, "Come visit the site and if you like it I do ask you share the site with others who will be interested".
