Awards Recognized Technology Leaders in the Philadelphia Region

Marlton, NJ, May 21, 2013, 4:56 am -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- eMaint Enterprises, a world leader in cloud-based maintenance management systems, was awarded with SmartCEO Magazine's Leaders in Technology Voltage Award for Small Business Innovator on May 16 at The Ballroom at The Ben in Philadelphia. The award recognizes companies using technology to better and advance the Greater Philadelphia region. eMaint was one of 21 finalists across seven categories.

"I found it quite appropriate that an award for innovation would be present in a room named after Benjamin Franklin," said eMaint President and CEO Brian Samelson. "Even more appropriate that eMaint would be presented with this award on the eve of our public unveiling of our latest innovation, X3 V11."

The Voltage Awards program celebrates the role that technology plays in the business community and the future impact the technology sector will have on economic growth.

The program recognizes leading innovators and implementers of technology. These are organizations developing new technologies that improve operational efficiencies (technology innovators) and companies using technology to enhance their competitive advantage (technology implementers).

"While the basis of this award is innovation in technology, without awesome customers and, more importantly, the greatest team behind the technology, none of it would be possible, said Samelson. "I am humbled by the honor bestowed upon eMaint and I dedicate the award to each and every one of our employees and customers."

Finalists were selected by an independent panel of business leaders based on submitted applications.
