

Key Gardens getting dressed up for Christmas celebrations

Released on: November 29, 2013, 12:50 pm

Author: The Shaftesbury Hotel Collection

Industry: Travel

LONDON, November 29, 2013, 12:50 pm -- /EPR NETWORK/ -

- With the biggest event of the year getting closer every day, the festive mood or fever is getting its grip tightened on the people of London. Celebrations have already started with different events, festivals and performances at different venues and the pitch is sure to surge in the coming days. London is an absolute dreamland right now and is the perfect place to come, stay and enjoy a grand vacation. Every corner of the bustling city center of London, the streets, the plazas, the parks and gardens are getting fancy makeovers with magical lights to cherish the arrival of winter and Christmas which is just weeks away. For people who haven't seen Christmas celebrations in London, must not miss the chance this year, since it's a chance of a lifetime.

The Christmas at Kew festival, an interesting part of Christmas celebrations in London is set to return on November 28 and would keep charming the people of London and visitors till January 4. The iconic Kew Gardens is fast transforming into a winter wonderland with magical lights, canopies, market and rides occupying the ground space. Visitors are sure to find the place very interesting and see things that would make an experience to cherish for the rest of their lives. Different events are lined up for the Christmas celebrations at Kew Gardens this year but the new one will be the Christmas after Dark enchanted trail. Visitors would be taken on a magical one-mile journey over the garden's outdoor space which has been illuminated with magical, twinkling lights.

The Christmas Village, as always, will be another star attraction of the Christmas festival in Kew. The Christmas Village is actually a boutique market where delicious seasonal treats from local restaurants and eateries are sold. Hence, gastronomists would find delight for their stomach and taste buds. For shopaholics too, the Christmas Village is a must see place since beautiful handmade gifts are put on sale by craft traders. Kids as well as young souls would surely be delighted to meet the Santa Claus in his grotto and would have blast of a time on different family rides that have been set there. Like always, The Victorian carousel is likely to emerge as the best ride. Moreover there will be canopies under the trees. Moreover, visitors would get opportunity to attend workshops, master classes and demonstration recitals.

The Kew is a place from where one can learn a lot about the history of London. One can explore the garden or opt for a guided tour. Christmas makes the garden look special but the place is worth visiting any time. Its lush greenery and fantastic lakeside views make the place truly romantic. Located strategically at a very convenient point of London, the Kew Gardens can be reached easily from all corners of London but yet visitors should try stay close to the venue for ensuring a quick reach. Situated very close to the Paddington underground train station, Shaftesbury Premier London Paddington would be the best option for visitors who want to experience the Christmas at Kew Gardens.

About Shaftesbury Premier London Paddington

Situated at Westbourne Terrace near the iconic Hyde Park, Shaftesbury Premier London Paddington is deluxe hotel set in a traditional Victorian building. Strategic location of the hotel makes it a convenient accommodation option for leisure and business travelers alike, since several major tourist attractions and business areas in Central London are within a close reach. Though the exterior bears a heritage look, the hotel, a property of the eminent hotel chain Shaftesbury is completely modern from inside and the luxurious guest rooms ensure ultimate comfort and luxury with contemporary facilities and amenities.

~~~~~

Press release distributed via EPR Network (<http://express-press-release.net/submit-press-release.php>)