London, United Kingdom, November 29, 2013, 11:49 am -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Winter is back again to shiver and it's time to get ready for greeting the season with warmth. London is getting ready to celebrate the season in the form of events and visitors have started thronging the city. It's a fantastic time to spend at the majestic city which is getting dressed up for the grandest festival of the year on December 25 and a number of events are now lined up to take the festive mood to the peak before the arrival of Santa Clause. It's the middle of November and people of the city are getting impatient since the Winter Wonderland is just a few days away.

People toying with the idea of a vacation in London for some time should buy tickets and book rooms at The Montcalm London Marble Arch now to be a part of the Winter Wonderland, which has been one of the biggest winter events in London for years. This edition of the Winter Wonderland would kick off on November 23 and would entertain people throughout the shivering season. Like always, the iconic Hyde Park, the lung of London is turning into the event venue and works for setting up stalls for the exciting Christmas Market is going on at rapid speed. For people who haven't witnessed it, the Winter Wonderland is a must see event. It's colorful carnival where people of all ages find reasons to cheer, laugh and enjoy their time. For kids and young people the event comes as a golden time since it offers different times of exciting rides. The ice rink is another major highlight of the event for the young people, and for kids there would be many 'gentle' yet funny rides. Aged people can simply sit, relax and enjoy watching the young members of the family taking part in different activities and can have a great time at the Bavarian Village, which offers a lot of fun along with wines.

Another must visit section of the Winter Wonderland is the Christmas Market, which is set up every year to facilitate people in buying Christmas gifts for relatives, friends and neighbors. Shopaholics would have a blast of a time there while gastronomists will find delight at the eateries which would be offering light delectable items along with refreshing drinks. The Christmas Market is one of the major attractions of the Winter Wonderland for visitors as well as local people and the entire area gets quite crowded. Other than skating and rides, some shows and circuses entertain the young souls at the event venue while elders charm themselves with live music.

The Montcalm London Marble Arch London Hotel is an ideal accommodation choice for visitors willing to experience the Winter Wonderland, since the hotel stands at a few minutes' distance from the venue. Staying at The Montcalm London Marble Arch means staying connected with the Winter Wonderland. Young people can reach the Hyde Park Corner from the hotel simply by walking for a while and aged people could get there by taking a train for Hyde Park Corner from the station nearest to Montcalm London Marble Arch.
