The groundbreaking new social website devoted entirely to travel has launched just in time for the peak travel season, as an all-in-one global travel experience like no other.

November 04, 2013, 2:45 pm -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- A revolutionary new socially-fueled service called Gowime (www.gowime.com) now makes travel more affordable while providing local friends and personal connections to handle every possible travel need and detail.

"Wherever you go, anywhere in the world, new friends will be there to greet you, guide you, and even translate for you," explains Gowime's founder Ahmet Bulbul. "Feel right at home with great accommodations plus insights provided by a local friend who can guide you and offer tips and options for dining, nightlife, outdoor adventures, cultural excursions, and more."

- Use the intuitive, user-friendly Gowime website to create a travel itinerary, search by cities, and review helpful profiles of participating Gowime members.

- Get valuable tips on local transportation or find Gowime members who offer free transportation.
- Search for accommodations referred by those familiar with the destination, plus recommendations for where to eat, shop, sightsee, or play.
- With Gowime it is even possible to locate members willing to offer advance trip translation services or accommodations at no cost whatsoever.

Gowime distinguishes itself as a top-notch service to facilitate personal or business travel . "Gowimers" benefit from the knowledge of those who are local insiders and personal guides. They build great travel experiences that go far beyond ordinary tourism, and discover all the interesting and educational things that may not be disclosed in travel books or brochures. Best of all, Gowime is absolutely free, making it the most valuable and innovative travel concept on the planet.
