LONDON, August 13, 2014 -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- Ballyturk, the new play by Enda Walsh, has been the focus of considerable attention in recent months, in part because of a formidable cast that includes regular Walsh collaborator Mikel Mufi alongside Hollywood big hitters Cillian Murphy and Stephen Rea, but mostly because Enda Walsh is one of the rising stars of international theatre.

Ballyturk reunites the creative team behind Mistermen, one of Walsh's most acclaimed productions and centres on two men – Mufi and Murphy, simply identified as One and Two – who's lives in the imagined Irish town of Ballyturk unravel upon the arrival of a third man (Rea).

A four-year gap since Walsh's last play, the Tony Award winning 'Once', means Ballyturk arrives accompanied by considerable anticipation. Few were surprised therefore when the play's debut run at the Galway International Arts Festival swiftly sold out.

Ballyturk commences its run at the National Theatre on 11th September and shows no sign of slowing Walsh's ascendant trajectory having already won strong reviews and enthusiastic audiences.
