Another great line-up of tennis legends is set to light up the Royal Albert Hall this December

LONDON, December 04, 2014 -- /EPR NETWORK/ -- The Statoil Masters at the Royal Albert Hall is the undisputed highlight of the ATP Champions Tour, showcasing some of the greatest tennis players of the modern era amidst the history and iconic splendour of the Royal Albert Hall, a venue usually reserved for the greats of classical music.

Now in its eighteenth year, the Statoil Masters will be staged over five days between the 3rd and 7th December and promises a line-up of true tennis greats including recent stars like Andy Roddick, Tim Henman and Greg Rusedski competing in the Champions Tour Singles event as well as evergreen crowd favourites including John McEnroe, Pat Cash and Mansour Bahrami.

This year the Elton John organised Mylan WTT Smash Hit charity event adds to the entertainment with a glittering line-up of stars including five-time Grand Slam champion Martina Hingis, current British number one Heather Watson, Kim Clijsters and Sabine Lisicki. Final Day attendees can also look forward to appearance from Elton John and co-organiser Billie Jean King as Team Elton takes on Team Billie Jean.

The Statoil Masters is sure to attract tennis fans from far and wide and those visiting central London from further afield will be pleased to learn that LondoTown.com is currently offering discount deals on a selection of top hotels that will be well suited to attendees looking for a hotel in London.
