Press Release Author = Cliff Smith

Industry = Food & Beverage

Press Release Summary = It's not always easy to find all natural foods that are safe and produce the health benefits people are searching for. A new Internet store is introducing consumers to health food not available locally.

www.BestHealthFoodStore.net features free nutrition facts on topics such as Ph balance, pregnancy nutrition, and healthy snacks for a child. A free audio download describes the products in greater detail and provides even more information on low carb and high fiber foods not sold in retail stores.

Press Release Body = Finding natural, safe and effective health food at neighborhood stores can be challenging. Many ingredients in so-called "health food" products are isolated vitamins and minerals, chemicals, preservatives and artificial sweeteners. The good news is that it just got easier to find all natural foods not sold at retail stores. This new Internet source for low carb foods, high fiber foods and other products made entirely from plants, herbs, fruits and vegetables is www.BestHealthFoodStore.net.

One of the major differences between nutritional products in retail stores and those at BestHealthFoodStore.net is that the products at local stores come from many different sources. It is impossible for the operators of those stores to be certain that all the ingredients are safe and effective. At this new online health food store, the products come from one source and the operators of the store have personally been using all the products for over six years with visible results. They have toured the manufacturing facility and carefully studied the ingredients in all the products they carry as well as the expertise of the manufacturer. The owners of the Internet site are comfortable in the knowledge that this one manufacturer has been producing all natural health foods since 1982 and their products are used by millions of consumers worldwide with safety and effectiveness.

The ingredients on products at retail stores reveals isolated vitamins and minerals, artificial sweeteners, preservatives, and other chemicals. The products at www.BestHealthFoodStore.net are all natural, made from food grade plants and herbs, not medicinal herbs. There are no preservatives, artificial sweeteners, or isolated vitamins. Instead, everything at this health food store is made from plants, with each formula carefully crafted to retain the whole food source.

The goal of this new Internet store is to introduce consumers to health food products that are not available in local stores. Also, customers are offered direct access to the manufacturer for maximum savings and selection. Now everyone has easy access to all natural foods and nutrition facts from their computer.

BestHealthFoodStore.net features free nutrition facts on topics such as Ph balance and pregnancy nutrition. The web site offers a free audio download titled, "All Natural Foods for a Balanced Diet". The products are offered in categories fulfilling the needs of consumers who are searching for specific types of health foods. Examples include, alkaline food, pregnancy nutrition and healthy snacks for a child. This is now the online source for all natural foods that are typically not found at retail stores, and you can have these unique products delivered right to your front door with the click of a mouse.
