Press Release Summary: Sweeney Custom Homes Wins National Pacesetter Award

Bakersfield - Dec/8/06 - CUSTOM HOME Magazine has honored Kern County home builder, Sweeney Construction, Inc., as a Pacesetter Award winner for 2006, according to Leslie Ensor, the magazine's editor.

The only Kern County firm to ever receive this honor, Sweeney Construction has been designated as one of the custom-home building industry's top achievers for 2006. Owner Todd Sweeney received the award in front of industry peers at an awards banquet sponsored by CUSTOM HOME Magazine, at the Dragon Ridge Country Club in Henderson Nevada on October 26, 2006.

Sweaney Construction helped to develop and pioneer comprehensive scheduling software that accommodates client change orders and subsequent rescheduling with email and fax notification for every affected sub. If the project is stalled, the system notifies everyone involved of the delay and which sub was the cause. It's a scheduling and accountability system that has allowed the company to grow more than two-fold in two years without adding any staff.

Says Ensor, "The Pacesetter winners are among the best in the business, and we're proud to tell their story to the over 40,000 custom home professionals who read the magazine nationwide."

All Pacesetter Award winners will be featured in CUSTOM HOME's November/December issue dedicated to this small group of outstanding custom-home builders. Selected because of their unique achievements in the custom building business, each builder excelled in either marketing, business management, design, production, management, or innovation, and has set the standard for performance in their industry.

CUSTOM HOME, the number one business magazine in the custom housing market, is published by Hanley Wood. LLC, the premier publisher in the residential construction industry.
