Press Release Body: Topman, a British based leader in cutting edge men's fashion is now offering to ship clothes purchased from their website across the globe to Australia.

An established, well known and respected brand in the UK, Topman offers the full range of fashion available at their flagship store at Oxford Circus London online from Topman.com. The Topman collection currently features over 1000 items online and is continuously updated with 80-100 lines of men's clothes each week, making available the hottest in men's fashion by their team of fresh designers.

Topman understands men's fashion and also knows that while men want to look good and are interested in fashion, most readily admit an aversion to conventional shopping, preferring instead the ease of browsing online for styles that appeal to them. With Topman's comprehensive yet simple online shopping network and delivery system, customers can easily find and purchase stylish mens clothing , not as readily available in Australia where fashion is dominated by laid back beach looks and surfer-wear.

Topman now offers their online services to those residing in Australia (<http://www.topman.com/australia>). Though well established in the UK, Topman is a new brand on the Australian scene, but they are confident that the fashion look will catch on.

For a standard delivery charge, visitors to Topman.com can order the full range of fashion offered by Topman to be delivered within the UK, to the Republic of Ireland, America and are now shipping to Australia.

Australian residents need not worry about the opposite season either. Swimwear, beachwear, outerwear and clothing for any season are available all year round from the Topman website so there are no worries if it is sunny and 32 degrees in Sydney when it might be 10 degrees and raining in London. Topman recognises that short sleeved T-shirts and jeans are year-round staples and are always made available from the website together with the newly added collections. Topman aims to deliver hassle free shopping, cutting-edge fashion and fashion advice, with more shipping options than ever before.
