Press Release Body: Job seeking physicians can now receive email alert notifications of specific physician job opportunities from MyJobPulse.com. This innovative program enables registered physicians to receive physician job alert notifications. The email alerts are physician, specialty, state, city, and any desired key word specific. As soon as an employer or recruiter posts a job matching the physician's specific criteria, an email alert notification is immediately sent to the physician job seeker. This allows the physician to be one of the first candidates to review and apply for the specific job if desired. Good physician jobs are hard to find – really great job opportunities are filled fast. Email alert notification at MyJobPulse.com provides job seeking physicians with an added 'early bird' advantage. Registered physicians can also enter an unlimited number of email alert criteria, and this services is provided free of charge.

MyJobPulse.com currently posts over 1,200 new physician jobs. All jobs listed have been posted within the past 2 months. This is new email alert feature is particularly exciting for many job seeking physicians and surgeons because it takes the search and find factor out of job seeking. Now physicians can let the jobs come to them! Doctors do not want to waste time browsing outdated, filled, or old opportunities. Physicians and surgeons can now turn to MyJobPulse to search for and find current physician job opportunities from any specialty.

Currently, there is a tremendous amount of turnover in the physician and surgeon job market. MyJobPulse.com provides a resource for both physicians to search listed job opportunities, and employers to post physician openings. Physician email alert notification is an exciting and long awaited service dedicated solely to physicians and surgeons. Job seeking physicians should have a reliable, updated, and easy to use resource for physician job listings. MyJobPulse.com allows doctors to search our exclusive physician database, or receive email alerts regarding solely physician and surgeon job opportunities.
