Offering a full line of periodontal procedures utilizing the latest in equipment and techniques, there is no better place to have necessary work done to protect your teeth, gums, and oral health.

Dr. Borna, a periodontist who is also a Diplomate International of the Congress of Oral Implantologists, is fully experienced and qualified to provide any needed periodontal care. While he specializes in dental implants, he is very practiced in all forms of conventional periodontics and advanced bone grafting. He's joined with Harvey Freed, D.D.S, and between them, all forms of surgical and non-surgical treatment plans are practiced.

For everyone over the age of ten, our teeth are permanent. Too often, however, dental disease or accidents can cause them to become loose or missing, and then periodontic treatment may be necessary. In other cases, such as having teeth that look too big or small for the mouth or perfect smile, crown lengthening or cosmetic periodontic surgery can correct the problems. To treat any of these conditions, or others such as gum, chin, bone, ramus, or block bone grafts, the periodontists at Century City Periodontics and Implants can fix you up and get you back smiling.

We offer a full line of periodontic treatments and have a state-of-the-art CT scanner available. We are equipped to diagnose and treat any disease of the gums and provide individual, personal care for all of our patients. We can perform scaling and root planing to save your precious teeth and are experienced in anti-microbial surgeries. When it comes to preserving your smile and health, we should be your first choice in Los Angeles.

Whether you're looking to replace a missing tooth with a dental implant that looks and acts just like one of your normal teeth or need to have your teeth's pockets corrected or cleaned so that you can save them, we can help. If a tooth is too badly diseased, we can provide everything from extraction to its replacement by dental implant, and make sure that your gums are healthy.

If you consider your teeth, gums, and health as important as we do, please visit our website to see a more complete list of the treatment options we can provide. We are happy to consult with you and will develop a plan that meets your needs. We know how to make the most nervous patient feel at ease, and your comfort and satisfaction is what means the most to us.
