Press Release Body:
What results is more than just a doodle.
Much more.
Moreganize more.

The principles behind Moreganize - Tom Frey, Dominik Skrobala and Attila Frey – are focused on creating an organizational platform for any business, one that is scalable, comprehensive and intuitive.

Their efforts have borne what can best be described as a virtual Swiss Pocket Knife: Users can generate simple surveys, share to-do lists, and create customized opinion polls that can be analyzed in Excel and presented handsomely in PDF format.

And that is just the tip of the iceberg!

All tools are linked together. Registered members have a powerful, administrative back-end at their disposal; they manage surveys online, import contacts into an integrated address book and more. To save time, Moreganize will even send out invitations to participants for you.

A Bridge Between Worlds

Moreganize is compatible with all popular browsers, and serves as a bridge between the myriad office software titles available in the market today. It does not matter if you are using Microsoft Outlook, Google Calendar, Lotus Notes or anything else. Everything works with Moreganize—and works better!

The creators of Moreganize are all presently attending or recent graduates of the University of Zurich. Outside of the classroom, their time is spent perfecting Moreganize. What was once a small project grew quickly into a comprehensive collaboration tool. Overwhelmingly positive feedback and tireless commitment ensure the platform evolves further with each passing day.

Euroganize 08 Special

To thank users, the principles behind Moreganize created a betting platform to celebrate the European Soccer Championship in their home country, Switzerland. With this new platform in place, everyone can quickly create a thrilling, online betting community. Users will find a full-featured betting interface that enables them to set up betting games, invite friends and offer prizes. Moreganize takes care of all the rest: rankings, point allocation, and wait until you see the special Bet-O-Meter!
