To those who have wondered whether or not a cheap life insurance policy exists today, a newly published article on InsuranceAgents.com answers with an emphatic “yes.”

An advertisement for InsuranceAgents.com. At the top, it says 'Protect Your Family For Less.' in large blue letters, followed by 'Compare Life Insurance Policies from Top Rated Companies!' in smaller blue text. Below this is a photograph of a smiling family of four (a man, a woman, and two children) sitting on a beach. To the right of the photo is a list of three benefits, each preceded by a green checkmark: 'Fill Out Our Short Form Only takes 5 minutes', 'Get Life Insurance Quotes from several leading companies', and 'Review the offers with no obligation and select the right one for you'. At the bottom right of the ad, it says 'That's It! We Make it Easy!' in a cursive font.

“Cheap life insurance does exist and its target market are people under 30, that are starting a family,” the articles, ‘Cheap Life Insurance’ states. “Most times cheap life insurance is term life insurance.”

Term life insurance is a policy that has an expiration date. After the term is over, the coverage ceases, as well, unless the policyholder passes on during the term. It's typically the cheapest life policy to buy. More expensive (but more comprehensive) is a whole life insurance policy—these policies aren't cheap unless you invest in them very young.

Life insurance can be the line between a financially-broken grieving family and a family that can focus on the death of a loved one because they don't have to worry about income.

"The death of a loved one is tough enough; combine that with financial devastation and the situation just got worse," the article states. "A life insurance policy takes care of those you love, should the unthinkable occur."

The funds from a life insurance policy can be used for any number of things the beneficiary(s) may need to pay for like funeral costs, any mortgage or debts left behind, sending the children to college, and even allowing the family time to grieve before returning to work.

A great way to find cheap life insurance rates is to search online for quotes. You can obtain several life insurance quotes and policies, allowing you the opportunity to compare coverage, rates and insurance providers.
