Hailing from the Caribbean nation of Jamaica and raised in St. Ann parish and the Cayman Islands, No Phear fuses the cadence of traditional reggae/dancehall with his modern interpretation in I Stand Alone , his recently released full album, whose debut single and video "Zion's Gate" premiered in January 2010.

STOCKTON, GEORGIA—UNITED STATES—MARCH 12, 2010. Reggae/hip hop artist No Phear has released I Stand Alone, his sophomore album. I Stand Alone was released under the Time Zone International Records label and is a full length studio album. "Zion's Gate", its first single and video, have also been released and can be heard and viewed on No Phear's website, and MySpace.

Native to Jamaica, No Phear has already experienced success as a reggae/hip hop artist. He can be heard on DJ Tsunami's mixed tape Money Well Spent, Volume 3 . His song "My Time" is featured on Lenox Lawrence's compilation CD, Wine Riddim , and has received exposure in the European markets. "De Wah Dah", a tune No Phear created for the Black Blingas, is in regular rotation in all of the Jamaican markets.

No Phear has collaborated with Phillip Smart, a producer who has worked with well-known reggae artists like Shaggy and Wayne Wonder. In addition, No Phear has opened for popular reggae artists, including Sean Paul, Beenie Man, and Elephant Man.

I Stand Alone is more than a common reggae album. What makes No Phear's offering unique is his innovative combination of an old school vibe with a modern, urban finish. This fusion of styles makes No Phear's music particularly appealing to contemporary audiences and reggae/dancehall enthusiasts.

No Phear is currently playing venues across the United States to promote I Stand Alone. To find out more about the artist and upcoming show dates, fans can visit No Phear's website. I Stand Alone is available now on iTunes, Rhapsody, napster and Amazon.
