

W3Creative Releases Version 4 Of Its Simcountry.com Virtual World Simulation Game

Simcountry 4.0 includes space travel and many other new features

Released on: June 04, 2010, 2:08 pm

Author: www.simcountry.com

Industry: Entertainment

"Bilthoven, The Netherlands, June 1. W3Creative.com the creator of the simcountry game announces the release of its latest version. W3creative founder and CEO, Jossi Gil, said: Simcountry 4 is a major step forward and will add new dimension to this extensive environment where thousands of players are building countries, empires, enterprises and now also space stations and shuttles."

Simcountry, first released in 2004, now runs 5 large virtual worlds, with thousands of countries run by players who take responsibility for all aspects of leadership, from education to warfare.

Although war has traditionally been part of the game, many players decide to play the strategic war free version, building assets and gaining power by the strength of their economies.

According to its makers, the game is an in depth, very large and feature rich MMOG where each player is a president of a country. Players cooperate with each other, trade, exchange knowledge, products and assets but also fight for dominance.

For more information visit www.simcountry.com

Contact Details: Betjewolfflaan 1
3723DM, Bilthoven
The Netherlands
phone: +31651804930
email: jonnigil224@hotmail.com

~~~~~

Press release distributed via EPR Network (<http://express-press-release.net/submit-press-release.php>)