Learn SEO is a website dedicated to providing up to the minute accurate information on Search Engine Optimisation and allowing it's users to become more informed about the subject-matter of SEO without having to resort to paying a large SEO Company to handle an SEO Campaign on their behalf. The Manchester based outfit has complimented its vision with a brand new web design and the initial feedback from consumers suggests it was a positive step worth taking. The main target audience for the website will be the same consumers that so many SEO Companies aim to target – consumers with an interest in Small Business SEO.

Learn SEO has recently expanded its offering with a new range of SEO courses to compliment its brand new web design. Initial feedback from the courses suggests they are a very welcome addition to the marketing arsenal of small businesses looking to find more information about SEO. The new structure of the website and the expanded course offering has prompted many small business owners interested in SEO training to get in touch with the webmaster, Gareth Mailer.

“Needless to say we are delighted with the feedback we have received so far”, says Gareth. “I think small business owners are literally crying out for options they can pursue when it comes to marketing their products and services online and the initial feedback we have received from running our courses has been very positive.”

Learn SEO have been in business for nearly one year now and have been expanding their service provision rapidly over the course of the last few months. The main aim moving forward will be to develop a membership section on LearnSEO.org.uk to cater to a growing interest towards participating in online SEO courses. "The future for Learn SEO looks very promising", says Gareth. "We are very well positioned to capitalise on the opportunities currently available in the marketplace."
