It's still no robbery when it comes to travelling in North America.

"When it comes to Escorted Tours, America is a great option"

Though "Everything's free in America" might not be wholly true, discerning travellers continue to recognise that it's across the Atlantic, rather than the Channel, that real holiday value can still be found, especially if they choose an escorted tour, such as those offered by specialist operator Newmarket Holidays.

Great Rates and High Quality

Newmarket's range – all of which include return flights, hotel accommodation, touring and sightseeing by comfortable coach, and the services of experienced tour managers to point you in the right direction – has grown significantly in the last few years. According to the company's Long Haul Director Richard Harrington – a 20-year veteran of the market – much of the growth has been down to the fact that "there has rarely been a better time to tour North America, especially considering the prices in the Eurozone".

Fascinating Sights and Sounds

Whether it's the startling Fall colours of New England, the antebellum glories of the Deep South, Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains, the 'music cities' of Nashville, New Orleans and Memphis, the natural wonders of the Grand Canyon, the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, or the glitz and glamour of West Coast USA, tours around the US are amongst the most fascinating on Earth.

The most popular USA holidays tend to be those offering a host of attractions within a short space of time. Newmarket's 'New England in the Fall' holiday has welcomed hundreds of travellers in the past couple of years, drawn not only by the kaleidoscopic colours of the foliage, but also by the fact that the eight-day holiday, starting at just £799 per person, includes visits to New York, Boston and Newport, Rhode Island – all places on anybody's list of must-sees. There's a version that includes a whale-watching cruise in addition to the land-based glories – 10 days from £1049.

Newmarket's other USA tours on the Eastern seaboard include the popular eight-day 'Follow the Fall Colours', beginning in Boston, travelling south via New York and Washington and ending in the Virginian city of Richmond.

Travel on Newmarket's classic 'West Coast and Las Vegas' itinerary and you can tick off San Francisco, Los Angeles, famous Carmel-by-the-Sea and the Grand Canyon all in the space of an 11-day journey, with prices from £995. A longer 'West Coast Wonders & Grand Canyon' trip takes in the awesome National Parks of Yosemite, Bryce Canyon and Zion and also includes a stay in San Diego – 15 days from £1299.
