DirectRooms.com can announce that festivities will be taking place around Melaka as citizens and tourists alike join the colourful celebrations of the 7th anniversary of it being named a historical city.

Cultural celebrations fill the day as the city celebrates this important moment in its history. The Malaysian city was recently awarded World Heritage City status by UNESCO.

Events around the city commemorate the city's historic and unique heritage. Colourful displays of costumes and dancing take place across many venues throughout Melaka. Traditional music fills the stages as spectators enjoy the vibrant showcase of Malaysian talent.

Traditional cuisine will be served around the city. Many of the dishes in Malaysia are exotic to palettes of tourists, and provide a tasteful insight into the culture of this beautiful and vibrant country.

The city of Melaka is rich in culture and heritage, all of which will be on display throughout the area on this historic holiday celebration.

Declaration Day in Melaka will take place on 14th April 2011.

Venues across the city will host events, some requiring visitors to pay a fee, while others will be free of charge.

Hotels Melaka make the perfect accommodation for everyone wishing to experience this historic day of commemoration, celebration, and heritage. There is accommodation available for all budgets and for all tastes.

All those interested in learning more about this special holiday are asked to contact the Department of National Heritage or the Tourism Melaka Office.
