DirectRooms.com can announce that the spectacular arena show that brings life-sized dinosaurs alive for audiences will be coming to Adelaide from April to May of 2011.

Beginning 27 of April, the Walking with Dinosaurs spectacular will again thrill Australian audiences. The stage show brings to life the life-sized dinosaurs by combining science, engineering, technology and the traditional theatre arts of lighting, scenery design, puppets and stage acting. The overall combination of all of these methods creates a memorable show that children and adults alike are certain not to forget.

The show will come to the Adelaide Entertainment Centre in the exciting city of Adelaide in Australia. The city itself offers many options for entertainment for visitors of all ages who are on holiday.

The show is made for an audience of all ages and will run for five days with nine showings during that time.

Tickets are being offered ranging from $44.90-$64.90 for juniors and children to $69.90-$99.00 for adults. They may be purchased ahead of time at Ticketek.

Adelaide hotels offer a wide range of accommodations, including many that specialise in creating a healthy and safe environment for families with children. Those on holiday in this Australian city are sure to find plenty of events and activities for family members of all ages to enjoy together and separately based upon interests.

Anyone interested in attending the Walking with Dinosaurs spectacular are encouraged to contact the Adelaide Entertainment Centre.
