With first impressions being important in business the latest Sony VAIO E Notebook now available at BT Business Direct has every angle covered and offers a total mobile computing solution for businesses looking to impress.

A brand well known for producing some outstanding business laptops, Sony's latest release, the VAIO E notebook, has the power needed for mobile workers whilst still being lightweight and portable. The Intel Core i3 processor ensures that there is no waiting around and that the notebook is ready for the demands of business use.

As well as some of the leading mobile computer processors, these compact notebooks also include the Intel HD Graphics chipset that, coupled with the 16:9 HD display, makes watching HD videos and video editing easy. Plus the HDMI output makes connecting to external displays such as HD TVs effortless. With workers in the field or meeting clients it's important to get quick access to the internet and the VAIO E is able to do this, literally at the touch of a button. With a WEB button users can instantly power up the notebook and browse the internet or read emails in seconds, perfect for quick email checks or finding information in an instant.

BT Business Direct is now selling the Sony VAIO E series in three forms to suit regular business use or more heavy duty specifications, providing more storage space and an increase in RAM. Prices start at 394.17 (excl. VAT) going up to £496.43 (excl. VAT) depending on your business' needs.

Jade Tomlinson, Laptop Category Manager at BT Business Direct said, "The Sony VAIO range has always been a favourite with business users, both compact and powerful the VAIO E range looks the part and still packs a lot of computing power for such a lightweight notebook.

"At BT Business Direct we have a number of models in the VAIO E range available with either Windows 7 Home Premium or Windows 7 Professional, with many other popular models from the VAIO range also available on the website."
