Fans of retro rock can look forward to one of their heroes playing in the German city of Stuttgart this summer, with American rockers Mr Big set to play there as a part of their summer 2011 pan-European tour.

With fans from all over Germany looking to get hold of tickets for the Stuttgart gig this summer, hotels in the city can look forward to a bumper start to the summer according to online hotel comparator DirectRooms.com. The website is advising advance booking to secure cheap hotels in Stuttgart Airport.

The band, which made its name around the world with the 1989 smash hit 'To Be With You', has enjoyed a large global fan base since the late 1980s. Stuttgart's famous LKA Longhorn concert hall is the venue where fans can see their heroes play on the 1st of June this summer.

This tour represents the chance for fans of Mr Big to see the band with members of its founding line-up included and the band is playing more than 20 gigs around Europe throughout the summer.

Lek Boonlert, marketing head at DirectRooms.com comments: "Reunion concerts like the Mr Big one this summer are always popular and as such attract old fans and new to them. With Stuttgart hotels out by the airport typically being in demand in the summer anyway, we are advising people to book a place to stay well in advance of traveling to be sure of getting what they want."
